Lumexa Imaging (“Lumexa”) provides administrative services to affiliated radiology practices and imaging centers. Lumexa contracted with a vendor to provide non-clinical operational support in connection with the administrative services it provides. On April 9, 2026, the vendor notified Lumexa that it was investigating suspicious activity within a portion of its network dedicated to Lumexa’s affiliated radiology practices and imaging centers. Lumexa immediately disconnected its systems from the vendor’s network. On April 15, 2026, Lumexa learned that an unauthorized person may have viewed or obtained copies of documents containing its affiliated radiology practices and imaging centers’ patient information from the vendor’s system. Documents were taken between March 31, 2026, and April 9, 2026.

The information that may have been involved varied by document and individual. It may have included name; identifiers such as date of birth, address, phone number, Social Security number, and/or patient account number; insurance information; and/or clinical information related to radiology services for approximately 3,632 Washington residents.

On May 15, 2026, Lumexa began mailing notification letters to affected individuals via USPS First-Class mail in accordance with the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (45 CFR § 164.404) and/or Wash. Rev. Code § 19.255.010. Lumexa began mailing additional notification letters, including to the Washington residents, on June 12, 2026. A copy of the notification letter used in both waves of notice is enclosed. Lumexa is offering individuals whose Social Security number was involved with access to complimentary credit monitoring and identity theft protection services. Additionally, Lumexa has established a dedicated, toll-free call center to answer any questions individuals may have about the incident.

Before Lumexa reconnected its systems to the vendor’s environment, and to help prevent a similar incident from occurring in the future, the vendor provided assurances to Lumexa that it took steps to contain and remediate the issue, including that it reset passwords, scrubbed and validated affected systems, and deployed enhanced cybersecurity monitoring and detection tools.

You have been provided with access to the following services from Kroll:

Single Bureau Credit Monitoring

You will receive alerts when there are changes to your credit data—for instance, when a new line of credit is applied for in your name. If you do not recognize the activity, you'll have the option to call a Kroll fraud specialist, who will be able to help you determine if it is an indicator of identity theft. To receive credit services, you must be over the age of 18 and have established credit in the U.S., have a Social Security number in your name, and have a U.S. residential address associated with your credit file.

Fraud Consultation

You have unlimited access to consultation with a Kroll fraud specialist. Support includes showing you the most effective ways to protect your identity, explaining your rights and protections under the law, assistance with fraud alerts, and interpreting how personal information is accessed and used, including investigating suspicious activity that could be tied to an identity theft event.

Identity Theft Restoration

If you become a victim of identity theft, an experienced Kroll licensed investigator will work on your behalf to resolve related issues. You will have access to a dedicated investigator who understands your issues and can do most of the work for you. Your investigator will be able to dig deep to uncover the scope of the identity theft, and then work to resolve it.

Kroll's activation website is only compatible with the current version or one version earlier of Chrome, Firefox, Safari and Edge.

To receive credit services, you must be over the age of 18 and have established credit in the U.S., have a Social Security number in your name, and have a U.S. residential address associated with your credit file.

If you believe you are the victim of identity theft or have reason to believe your personal information has been misused, you should immediately contact the Federal Trade Commission and/or the Attorney General's office in your state. You can obtain information from these sources about steps an individual can take to avoid identity theft as well as information about fraud alerts and security freezes. You should also contact your local law enforcement authorities and file a police report. Fraud Alerts and Credit or Security Freezes:

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com
- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com

You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.
